

Home > Culture and inclusion > Aboriginal workforce > Knowing our workforce > Networking events and knowledge sharing

Networking events and knowledge sharing

Find out about networking events and opportunities for knowledge sharing. Some networks are for Aboriginal people only, others are for all employees.

On this page

Sector-wide Aboriginal staff network

Aboriginal Workforce Development Community of Practice

Our Aboriginal networks and events are an opportunity for all employees to:

- share expertise and insights into policies, programs and projects
- provide a forum to co-design solutions
- learn about current and emerging initiatives.

Sector-wide Aboriginal staff network

We host events for Aboriginal employees throughout the year.

Participation in these events is open to all Aboriginal public sector employees to share thoughts, experiences and knowledge on Aboriginal workforce initiatives and priorities.

Join our Aboriginal Staff Network to share information or find out about events by completing our contact form.

We will post information about our events on this webpage

Aboriginal Workforce Development Community of Practice

The Aboriginal Workforce Development Community of Practice is a forum for sector-wide discussion and learning open to all NSW public sector employees.

The events are opportunities for collaborating and sharing best practice to improve outcomes for our Aboriginal workforce and citizens of NSW. We bring together experts to present on innovative and emerging initiatives.

To join or to share information with our Community of Practice please contact us.

We will post information about our events on this webpage.